Weekly Health Tip

Halloween night is fast approaching! Here are a few tips for children to stay safe while having fun.

- Add reflective tape or flashing buttons to your children's costumes or candy buckets to help them be seen in the evening hours.
  In addition, have children carry a flashlight so drivers can see them.

- Buddy up! Children younger than 12 years of age, should trick-or-treat and cross the street with an adult.
- Before your kids dig into their treats, parents should do a quick inspection of their candy bag and look for any tampered treats. Throw away any candy that is unwrapped or has a torn or worn wrapper.
